Click Phone on the meeting dashboard and then follow the prompts to connect. You can also join the online meeting using the FreeConferenceCall.com desktop application, if your IT controls will allow you too, or FreeConferenceCall.com apps for Apple and Android. Please be patient, as this is the first virtual meeting that our chapter has presented!

We are looking forward to 'hearing' you at the meeting!

Program: ASSP Virtual CIL Chapter Meeting

Improving a Safety & Health Program

Featured Speaker – Jeff Clarkson, CSP, CHC, CHFM, EMT-8

Jeff is a Safety Professional with 17 years of experience in a variety of management and leadership positions. In his professional career he has worked in manufacturing, construction, and healthcare. He currently serves as a Volunteer Firefighter/Safety Officer with the Downs Community Fire Protection District and has 20 years of experience in the Fire Service, both as a volunteer and career Firefighter/Paramedic. In 2016 he obtained the CSP designation. He has continued his studies and is nearly finished with his MBA. In 2005, he established Chief Safety Services, LLC and is currently negotiating to incorporate a new consulting firm with a focus on developing a data analytics and web-based safety management platform, on the leading edge of the future for the industry.

Society News

ASSP – Safety 2020 - PDC

This is an important message from ASSP President, Diana Stegall:

As anticipated, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Safety 2020 is shifting to a virtual education event. We arrived at this decision after weeks of assessing the latest information and guidance from public health authorities and government officials.

Safety 2020: Virtual

Safety 2020: Virtual will be held June 23-25. We will deliver 60 educational sessions featuring many of the industry trendsetters who were scheduled to present in Orlando, as well as three general sessions and two plenary sessions. Additionally, participants can now earn up to 6.5 continuing education units (CEUs) and will have 60-day access to all recorded concurrent education sessions.

In addition, the event will feature a virtual exposition where attendees can access information, view videos and chat with company representatives. There will also be opportunities to network with other attendees, speakers and ASSP staff via chat.

For full details on Safety 2020: Virtual, please visit <https://safety.assp.org/> or read the full press release here. We've also posted an FAQ to help answer your questions.

Anyone registered for the in-person event in Orlando will be contacted to transfer their registration to the web-based experience, to cancel and receive a full refund, or to apply a credit to their account for a future ASSP educational experience.

What's Next

As you can imagine shifting an event the size and scope of Safety 2020 takes some planning and time. In the coming days and weeks, ASSP professional staff will be reaching out to specific stakeholder audiences with additional details regarding ancillary events and activities traditionally held at our annual conference, like the House of Delegates meeting and award recognition.

Even though we aren't able to gather in Orlando this year, you play an important role in helping our members continue their education and connect with our professional community. Please encourage members of your ASSP community (chapter, area, region, practice specialty, common interest group) to visit the Safety 2020: Virtual website to learn more about the event. We also encourage you to register. In addition, please familiarize yourself with our event FAQs so that you can help your members find answers to any questions they may have.

Thank You

Your understanding and outreach during these extraordinary times is appreciated, and we are grateful for your continued engagement and support. We hope you are well, and we look forward to connecting with you at Safety 2020: Virtual.

Sincerely,
Diana Stegall, CSP, CFPS, ARM, SMS, CPCU
ASSP President
